Help us help them – farm supporter appeal

Your farm business can join our Supporter Scheme for as little as £150/year and make a big difference to people struggling to cope in Scottish agriculture

Dear Friend,

RSABI provides emotional, practical and financial support to individuals and their families across the agricultural sector including farming, crofting and growing.

In recent years RSABI has experienced a surge in demand for services, at an average cost to the charity of £500,000 each year in direct financial assistance.

Given the tough times facing farming at this time of uncertainty, we have launched an appeal this New Year to increase the number of working farm businesses currently supporting RSABI and to help us meet the costs of our important work.

We provide important support for hard working people like Robert and Gillian Scott who have three young children. When Robert's health deteriorated after 40 years as a tenanted farmer, he worked on regardless but was eventually forced to stop and is now on oxygen 15 hours/day owing to his condition. The family struggled financially with Robert finding it difficult to come to terms with not being able to work again.

Your donation of £150 or more per year will mean a great deal to people like Robert and Gillian, enabling us to continue our valuable work helping more people.

Please help us help them by joining our Supporter Scheme today as a working farm business, proudly supporting people in Scottish agriculture!

With best wishes,

RSABI Development Manager

"To the people RSABI helps, it is a lifeline. Please show your support for RSABI as a working farm business".
