RSABI Invites Team Entries for the 2019 Great Glen Challenge Event

Running for an eighth year this August, RSABI Great Glen Challenge, sponsored once again by full service law firm Ledingham Chalmers is now open for team entries. The popular event has raised over £300,000 to help people in Scottish agriculture and has been sold out in recent years.

Teams of 4 people from rural businesses, industry organizations and groups of agriculturally minded people, take on the annual multi-sports competition on Friday 30th August, all looking to follow the fantastic fundraising success of the event in previous years. RSABI is delighted to be supported once again by Royal Bank of Scotland, route sponsor Rettie & Co, The Scottish Farmer and Bank of Scotland, all of whom field a team.

Linda Tinson, head of rural, land and business from headline sponsor Ledingham Chalmers commented, "It is so important to be able to give back to the industry as a whole but specifically to those most in need. With that in mind, we're proud to be part of a team – and an event – that has not only raised a huge amount of money, but also raised awareness for such a worthy and necessary cause."

RSABI, which has witnessed a surge in demand for its charitable services in recent years, signs up some 25 teams to compete in what is established as a unique, inclusive and exciting one-day Challenge. In 2018, one hundred competitors from across Scotland biked, kayaked, walked and ran sections totaling 46km along the Great Glen Way from Fort Augustus to the finish and prize-giving at Neptune's staircase by Fort William, raising £66,000 for this worthy cause in the process.

This August looks set to be just as popular as ever, and with enquiries from new teams already received, RSABI are excited to be looking for a new winner for 2019 to follow Begbies Traynor last year.
